

Caution Concerning Forward Looking Statements

This section contains important information about our forward-looking statements. Please also see our annual reports on Form 10-K and quarterly reports on Form 10-Q that we file with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the “SEC”).

(for communications dated on or after June 19, 2023)

This public communication contains “forward-looking statements” within the meaning of applicable federal securities law. These statements are made pursuant to the safe harbor provisions of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 and generally include words such as “believes,” “expects,” “intends,” “anticipates,” “estimates” and similar expressions. We can give no assurance that any actual or future results or events discussed in these statements will be achieved. Any forward-looking statements represent our views only as of today and should not be relied upon as representing our views as of any subsequent date. Readers are cautioned that such forward-looking statements are subject to a variety of risks and uncertainties that could cause our actual results to differ materially from the statements contained in this public communication. Such forward-looking statements include, but are not limited to, statements regarding our revenue expectations for video security and access control and our investment in research and development, including the launch of new products. We caution the reader that the risks and uncertainties below, as well as those in Part I Item 1A of our 2022 Annual Report on Form 10-K and Part II, Item 1A of our Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the First Quarter of 2023, and in our other SEC filings available for free on the SEC’s website at www.sec.gov and on our website at www.motorolasolutions.com, could cause our actual results to differ materially from those estimated or predicted in the forward-looking statements. Many of these risks and uncertainties cannot be controlled by us, and factors that may impact forward-looking statements include, but are not limited to:

- the effectiveness of our investments in new products and technologies;
- our inability to purchase at acceptable prices a sufficient amount of materials, parts, and components, as well as software and services, to meet the demands of our customers, and any disruption to our suppliers or significant increase in the price of supplies;
- the impact of current global economic and political conditions in the markets in which we operate (including, but not limited to inflation);
- the inability to access the capital markets for financing on acceptable terms and conditions;
- the impact, including increased costs and potential liabilities, associated with changes in laws and regulations regarding privacy, data protection and information security;
- challenges relating to existing or future legislation and regulations pertaining to artificial intelligence (“AI”), AI-enabled products and the use of biometrics or other video analytics;
- the impact of government regulation of radio frequencies;
- audits and regulations and laws applicable to our U.S. government customer contracts and grants;

- the impact, including additional compliance obligations, of future legislative or regulatory actions regarding telecommunications-related laws and regulations;
- the evolving state of environmental regulation relating to climate change, as well as physical risks of climate change;
- the impact of product regulatory and safety, consumer, worker safety and environmental product compliance and remediation laws;
- the impact of tax matters;
- the continuing and future impact of the COVID-19 pandemic on our business;
- additional compliance obligations and increased risk and competition associated with the expansion of technologies within our Products and Systems Integration and Software and Services segments (including, but not limited to, with respect to the United Kingdom's Competition and Markets Authority's decision regarding Airwave and our actions in response to such decision);
- the effectiveness of our strategic acquisitions, including the integrations of other companies or businesses;
- increased cybersecurity threats, a security breach or other significant disruption of our IT systems or those of our outsource partners, suppliers or customers;
- our inability to protect our intellectual property or potential infringement of intellectual property rights of third parties;
- risks, including unexpected liabilities, associated with intellectual property licenses and indemnities in our customer and supplier contracts;
- our license of the MOTOROLA, MOTO, MOTOROLA SOLUTIONS and the Stylized M logo and all derivatives and formatives thereof from Motorola Trademark Holdings, LLC;
- the global nature of our employees, customers, suppliers and outsource partners;
- our use of third-parties to develop, design and/or manufacture many of our components and some of our products, and to perform portions of our business operations;
- the inability of our subcontractors to perform in a timely and compliant manner or to adhere to our Human Rights Policy;
- risks related to our large, multi-year system and services contracts (including, but not limited to, with respect to our Emergency Services Network and Airwave contracts);
- the inability of our products to meet our customers' expectations or regulatory or industry standards;
- the impact of returns on pension and retirement plan assets and interest rate changes;
- the inability to attract and retain senior management and key employees;
- the impact of the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 on our business; and
- the return of capital to shareholders through dividends and/or repurchasing shares.

We undertake no obligation to publicly update any forward-looking statement, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise.